Tribute from Bill Ripka

Relation: Family friend

Very graced to have known Fritz and his wonderful wife Susie since the early 90's. Always made me feel welcome in their home. Very generous. Glad to share a laugh, a story or even better a beer and schnapps at happy hour. Always had an ear to listen and a kind piece of advice to offer. A kinder man there could not be. He will be sadly missed and our camping and fishing trips fondly remembered. A great fisherman and a well-spoken man Fritz was always entertaining when you asked him to talk of his adventures. A true classy individual and a proud man. Rest in Peace Fritz. Will think of you often.

Tribute from Lynn & John Bremmer

Relation: wine industry

As a part of the grape and wine industry Adolf will be missed.
He was a very important part of industry with his introduction of very good quality wine at reasonable prices. This, more than anything, helped expose the consumer to excellent BC wine thus encouraging the growth of our industry.
Most importantly he will be missed for his wonderful smile!

Tribute from Don Cooper

Relation: Friend of Roland

Roland and Karen and family,

I was sorry to hear of the passing of Adolf. He sounds like he was quite a man, as I had heard from people in the community. I am sure you will have many fond memories of him and all of the things he accomplished in his life, while enjoying the friendship and admiration of others. That is quite a legacy.

Sincerely

Don Cooper

Tribute from Roy Griffith

Relation: Work

So sorry to hear of Fritz's passing recently. Many days of selling wine bottles for Richards Packaging brought me into contact with many new and interesting people, and Fritz was certainly high on that list. His stories of going from grower to a producing winery were most interesting, and the fact that he was only four years older than I made them more relevant. My condolences to the family and apologies for the lateness of this note. I only just learned of his passing yesterday.

Sincerely,
Roy Griffith
