Tribute from Tiffany Beckedorf

Relation: I interviewed Mr. Crockford

When I met MR. Crockford was rather shy at first to tell me the story of his life, but when he spoke of his wife, who passed away about ten years ago - his face lit up and the conversation was rolling. During a separation in WW2 Mr Crockford wrote to his beloved wife frequently. He kindly allowed me to read some of these letters. The strength, hope and joy shared by this couple will be something I never forget. It was a pleasure to know Bob Crockford, albeit too briefly.

Tribute from Stuart Culver

Relation: Visitor at Sunnybank

My sincere condolences on your loss. As a regular visitor to Sunnybank I talked with Bob whenever possible at afternoon coffee time. Bob was happy to tell me about his youth in England, his military service in Africa, and work with Woodward's and visits to the ranch. However, Bob went beyond this and was keen to ask about me, our horses and life in general. One day he said, "Well, I've made 95, may as well try for 100." It is our loss that this was not to be.
