Tribute from Heather Zapotoczny

Relation: Younger sister

I was just speaking with my husband yesterday that it was my brother's birthday and he would have been 73...however, I just found out tonight, through our older brother, that Terry had passed away..a year and a half ago. Yes, Terry did have another sister and brother whom were not mentioned in his brief Obituary. It's truly sad and very disheartening that he nor our sister, Lynda chose to keep in touch with us, once our dear mother had passed. It was painfully made very clear, so we abided by their wishes.

I want everyone to know, however that I loved my brother very much and spoke fondly of him to friends on many occasions..one just reminded me tonight that I spoke of him..how Highly intelligent he was, to the point of Genius...how I would throw rocks at boys whom teased him in school..how he taught me to ride a bike..on the riverbank in Prince Albert..

I chose January 5 as my first wedding date, as I knew he couldnt be there because he and Lynn moved away..having my wedding on the same day as his birthday, made me feel as if he were there. There were so many soft spots in Terry's heart and yet, so many struggles..I followed his wishes to not contact him..I'm just sorry that my older brother and I were not told of his passing..but as one can see by omission in his Obituary...we simply do not exist..but we do..and if it is Jehovah God's will..I will see my brother in the Resurrection...all bad memories erased forever.
